The Chairman stated that the Board believes that shareholders of Manulife should have an opportunity to understand how and why the Board makes its executive compensation decisions and provide input to the Board on executive compensation.

The Chairman noted that the Board was disappointed with the results of the 2016 say on pay advisory resolution and committed to engaging with shareholders and taking action with respect to Manulife's executive compensation program. He reported that Manulife's Board has had an active shareholder outreach program for a number of years and over the past year the Board expanded the scope of the outreach to hear directly from shareholders to understand their concerns regarding Manulife's executive compensation program. John Cassaday, the Chair of the Board's HR committee, and the Chairman held 25 meetings with institutional shareholders representing approximately 50% of Manulife's institutional shareholder base. These shareholders provided their perspectives on the executive compensation program and the alignment of executive compensation to performance.

The Chairman reported that the Board responded by making significant changes to Manulife's executive compensation program. These changes are designed to more effectively align compensation to financial results, strategic accomplishments and shareholder experience as well as to peers. Management, including the CEO, were a constructive part of this process.

While the impact of these changes will not be fully reflected until the following year, the Board also made significant changes to 2016 compensation, the results of which are disclosed for senior executives in the Proxy Circular for this meeting.

The Chairman referred the shareholders to the compensation discussion and analysis in the Manulife proxy circular which explains the Board's compensation decisions and the changes to Manulife's compensation programs.

The Chairman advised that, as this was an advisory vote, the results will not be binding on the Board. However, when considering Manulife's approach to compensation in the future, the Board will take into account the results of the vote.

Debbi Wall, a shareholder of Manulife, moved that the following non-binding shareholder advisory resolution to accept Manulife's approach to executive compensation be approved:

"Resolved, on an advisory basis and not to diminish the role and responsibilities of the Board, that the shareholders accept the approach to executive compensation disclosed in the proxy circular delivered in advance of the 2017 Annual Meeting of Common Shareholders."
