USD US Growth Fund

Market Review

US stocks advanced in July, marking the fifth consecutive month of gains for the broad-based Standard & Poor's (S&P) 500 Index. The US Federal Reserve Board (Fed) raised its target interest rate again late in the month, pushing the benchmark to its highest level in 22 years. Stocks rose, however, as better-than-anticipated employment and inflation data supported the likelihood of a mild economic slowdown and as corporate earnings outpaced expectations. All sectors participated in the rally, with energy and communication services stocks leading the way. Conversely, healthcare and real estate stocks were laggards.

Outlook

We remain encouraged about prospects for US stocks, given the continued resilience of consumers and corporations in the US. While interest rates will likely stay higher for some time, we believe the strength of the US economic foundation will avert a problematic recession. Going forward, we plan to position the fund for a gradual reacceleration in economic growth. The fund ends the period with notable overweights in the consumer discretionary and communication services sectors.

The investment fund option for The Manufacturers Life Insurance Company's variable life insurance product is managed by Manulife Investment Management and Trust Corporation.

The Fund mentioned in this document is specific to variable life insurance contracts and is not considered a mutual fund. Yields depend on interest and foreign exchange rate levels, both of which may fluctuate. Other factors that affect yield include changes in the credit standing of the issuers and changes in the value of the stocks and dividends received. Further, investments of the Fund may provide that their values be determined based on prices or yields of other securities, instruments or foreign currencies, and such provisions may result in negative fluctuations in the value of these investments and, in turn, the Fund's yields. Thus, the performance of the separate account(s) is not guaranteed and the value of the policy could be less than the capital invested. THE VARIABLE LIFE POLICYHOLDER SHALL BEAR ALL INVESTMENT RISKS. Past performance of the Fund is not necessarily indicative of future performance. Yields are not guaranteed.
