Market Review

The first three weeks of June saw bond yields move higher as supply risks dominate the market amid news of a possible retail treasury bond (RTB) issuance. The Monetary Board meeting held June 25 brought a huge surprise as the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) announced a 50bps rate cut. Governor Diokno noted that the reduction in policy rates was a preemptive move amid a weak global growth view. A strong rally ensued following the cut, erasing the uptick in local bond yields for the month.

Outlook

Bond yields have trended lower an average of 30bps following BSP's move, but additional downside may be limited given recent rhetoric from the BSP. In addition, the longer dated bond issuances (7 and 10 years) scheduled for July and the potential RTB supply continue to dampen investor sentiment. Against a backdrop of increasing local Covid-19 cases and a possible lifting of the lock-down restrictions on Metro Manila, investors are cautious amid the numerous uncertainties in the market. The funds are positioned with a neutral duration relative to the benchmark to withstand possible volatility in the bond market.
