Market Review

The local yield curve steepened in August with yields at the short-ends and belly slightly declining as the disappointing GDP print in the second quarter dampened expectations of another rate hike from the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) this year. However, the inflation print of 5.3% in August highlighted upside risks to inflation, putting the BSP in a tough position with rate hike bets back on the table. With the latest inflation print, BSP may raise this year's inflation forecast further from the current forecast of 5.6%.

Outlook

Recent developments have made the local bond market more challenging, further delaying the rally we have been anticipating earlier this year. Nevertheless, we still find current bond yields attractive as our expectations of slowing inflation and rate cuts next year remain intact. We will continue to watch out for upside risks to inflation, particularly the potential effects of El Nino and the recent increase in oil prices.

The Fund mentioned in this document is specific to variable life insurance contracts and is not considered a mutual fund. Yields depend on interest and foreign exchange rate levels, both of which may fluctuate. Other factors that affect yield include changes in the credit standing of the issuers and changes in the value of the stocks and dividends received. Further, investments of the Fund may provide that their values be determined based on prices or yields of other securities, instruments or foreign currencies, and such provisions may result in negative fluctuations in the value of these investments and, in turn, the Fund's yields. Thus, the performance of the separate account(s) is not guaranteed and the value of the policy could be less than the capital invested. THE VARIABLE LIFE POLICYHOLDER SHALL BEAR ALL INVESTMENT RISKS. Past performance of the Fund is not necessarily indicative of future performance. Yields are not guaranteed.
