Market Review

The yield curve for local bonds steepened in March, with yields declining for short and intermediate tenors, as the market priced in the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas' (BSP) 25bps rate cut for April. Contraction in rice prices continued to push down the local inflation rate, with March inflation rate down to 1.8% from 2.1% in February. The BSP also cut inflation forecast to 2.3% from 3.5% this year, and to 3.3% from 3.7% in 2026.

Given the benign inflation outlook, April began with local yields initially following U.S. yields lower after U.S. President Trump's announcement of reciprocal tariffs. However, the succeeding days saw wild swings in rates, with U.S. 10-year yields surging over 60bps as on fears of U.S. stagflation and the U.S. losing its appeal as safe haven. The sell-off trickled to local bond markets, with yields for the liquid intermediate securities rising over 20bps MTD. The Bureau of Treasury's jumbo 10-year FXTN issuance this month also added to the selling pressure.

Outlook

While the U.S.' announcement of tariff exemptions and a temporary reduction in tariff rates slightly calmed markets over the past few days, we expect risk sentiment to remain fragile and for tariff headlines to continue driving markets in the short-term. Over the medium-term, a benign inflation outlook and rising growth risks with U.S. tariffs make the case for the BSP to stay on an easing path this year.

The Fund mentioned in this document is specific to variable life insurance contracts and is not considered a mutual fund. Yields depend on interest and foreign exchange rate levels, both of which may fluctuate. Other factors that affect yield include changes in the credit standing of the issuers and changes in the value of the stocks and dividends received. Further, investments of the Fund may provide that their values be determined based on prices or yields of other securities, instruments or foreign currencies, and such provisions may result in negative fluctuations in the value of these investments and, in turn, the Fund's yields. Thus, the performance of the separate account(s) is not guaranteed and the value of the policy could be less than the capital invested. THE VARIABLE LIFE POLICYHOLDER SHALL BEAR ALL INVESTMENT RISKS. Past performance of the Fund is not necessarily indicative of future performance. Yields are not guaranteed.
