Market Review

In July, the Philippine Stock Exchange Index (PSEi) fell by 1.71% to 6,265, marking its worst monthly performance since January 2025. The market's decline was influenced by developments related to US tariffs, profit-taking from significant private placements in SM and SMPH, and anticipation of the upcoming 5-year Retail Treasury Bond (RTB) issue by the Bureau of Treasury.

The consumer price index in July rose by 0.9% year-on-year, marking the lowest inflation level in nearly six years and remaining below the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas' target range. This was a decrease from 1.4% in the previous month and better than market estimates of 1.1%. BSP Governor Remolona indicated that a policy rate cut is possible at the upcoming Monetary Board meeting on August 28. The last 25-basis-point rate cut occurred in June, bringing the total policy rate reductions to 50-basis-points for 2025. The policy rate of the BSP is currently at 5.25.

Outlook

We believe that market performance for the remainder of the third quarter of 2025 will be driven by the fundamentals reflected in the profit trends from first-half corporate results. Due to recent adverse weather conditions, we anticipate that second-quarter corporate earnings may temporarily normalize. However, we expect spending activities to pick up once again towards the latter part of 2025 as holiday activities commence.

Additionally, the market is closely monitoring any further developments in the BSP's easing cycle. Any disappointments in the growth outlook, coupled with benign inflation, may prompt the Monetary Board to cut interest rates further ahead of the US Federal Reserve. Nonetheless, BSP Governor Remolona has emphasized that the domestic economy is in good shape, supported by solid fundamentals, ample reserves, stable remittances, and slowing inflation.

The Fund mentioned in this document is specific to variable life insurance contracts and is not considered a mutual fund. Yields depend on interest and foreign exchange rate levels, both of which may fluctuate. Other factors that affect yield include changes in the credit standing of the issuers and changes in the value of the stocks and dividends received. Further, investments of the Fund may provide that their values be determined based on prices or yields of other securities, instruments or foreign currencies, and such provisions may result in negative fluctuations in the value of these investments and, in turn, the Fund's yields. Thus, the performance of the separate account(s) is not guaranteed and the value of the policy could be less than the capital invested. THE VARIABLE LIFE POLICYHOLDER SHALL BEAR ALL INVESTMENT RISKS. Past performance of the Fund is not necessarily indicative of future performance. Yields are not guaranteed.
