Market Review

In October, the Philippine Stock Exchange Index (PSEi) declined by 0.39% to 5,929 level, resulting in a year-to-date return of -6.59%. The market's ongoing decline was further influenced by a weakening peso, which reached as high as 59.235 intraday on October 29, 2025, and lowered GDP growth prospects as investors assessed the potential impact of recent infrastructure spending issues.

The Consumer Price Index for October held steady at 1.7%, aligning with market expectations. Additionally, core inflation eased to 2.5% from 2.6% in September as lower prices of some food items like meat and vegetables offset slight increases in fish and fruits.

In the Monetary Board Meeting held last October 9, 2025, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas reduced policy rates by 25 basis points to 4.75%, bringing total policy rate cuts to as much as 175 basis points since 2024. The rate cut in the last October meeting came as a surprise to the market, as the BSP reinforced its concerns about growth while inflation remains well below the target range of 2-4%.

Outlook

For portfolio positioning, we are adding stocks with defensive qualities and attractive dividend yields to manage recent market volatility. We expect market activity to remain subdued for the rest of the fourth quarter of 2025 or until clear indicators of recovery in consumer and government spending emerge for the local economy. Notably, some stocks are currently trading at multi-year lows.

We are closely monitoring potential further policy rate cuts, as the BSP looks to reinforce its accommodative monetary policy considering softer inflation and potentially weak GDP growth outlook. Given the subdued inflation environment, the market anticipates a high probability of a 25-basis point rate cut at the next Monetary Board meeting in December.

The Fund mentioned in this document is specific to variable life insurance contracts and is not considered a mutual fund. Yields depend on interest and foreign exchange rate levels, both of which may fluctuate. Other factors that affect yield include changes in the credit standing of the issuers and changes in the value of the stocks and dividends received. Further, investments of the Fund may provide that their values be determined based on prices or yields of other securities, instruments or foreign currencies, and such provisions may result in negative fluctuations in the value of these investments and, in turn, the Fund's yields. Thus, the performance of the separate account(s) is not guaranteed and the value of the policy could be less than the capital invested. THE VARIABLE LIFE POLICYHOLDER SHALL BEAR ALL INVESTMENT RISKS. Past performance of the Fund is not necessarily indicative of future performance. Yields are not guaranteed.
