Market Review

The Philippine Stock Equity index (PSEi) year-to-date is down 6.85%, ending at 5,973 level for the month of October. The PSEi broke below the 6,000-level triggered by a disappointing September inflation which was at 6.1%. The Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas announced an off cycle increase in the policy rate to 6.5% which further added to the weakening investor activity for the month of October. Average daily volumes dropped to USD$80 million from USD$130 million in September.

In October, the BSP announced an off-cycle policy 25bps increase in the policy rate to 6.5% on account of the adverse effects of supply side pressures on inflation specifically the impact to food and rice prices. Moving forward, the BSP now expects inflation to remain elevated and stay above its target range of 2-4% before coming back down to target in second half. Governor Remolona further added that potential for another 25bps hike in policy rates is still possible if inflation pressure continues to remain an ongoing risk to the macroeconomy.

Consumer price index for September was at 6.1% much higher than consensus at 5.3%. The main driver for the increase were rice prices which increased by 17% year-on-year. Additionally, President Marcos removed price controls for rice.

Local bond yields surged by around 50bps with the curve flattening in October as inflation fears intensified following the release of September's inflation print. Sell-off in U.S. Treasuries also spilled over to local markets as 10y U.S. yields tested 5% on the back of mostly better-than-expected economic data and elevated inflation in the U.S. Consistent with its hawkish rhetoric in recent months, the Bangko Sentral ng Pilipinas (BSP) delivered a 25bps off-cycle hike late-October as it expects inflation to exceed its 2-4% target for a third straight year in 2024. The hike brought the total cumulative hikes from this tightening cycle to 450bps.

Outlook

We turn positive for Philippine equities as valuations have now reached attractive levels. We are also optimistic that the pre-emptive 25bps policy rates hike made by the Monetary Board last October 27 is a step in the right direction to contain the adverse effects to the economy caused by rising inflation. Lastly, holiday spending in the fourth quarter along with modest third quarter corporate earnings results continue to underpin our view for an optimistic outlook for equities for the remainder of the year.

Looking ahead, while BSP will likely remain cautious and continue to sound hawkish due to persistent upside inflation risks, we expect the BSP to pause and keep policy rate at 6.5% after October's inflation rate eased to 4.9%. This has been providing much-needed relief to the local bond market and has improved investor sentiment considerably. Given the likelihood for interest rates to stay higher for longer, we expect the local bond market to stay volatile. Nevertheless, current yield levels remain very attractive with our view of slowing inflation and a rate cut in second half of next year.
